Communion Sunday

Hebrews 10:23-25

"Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful. ²⁴ And let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works, ²⁵ not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the manner of some, but exhorting one another, and so much the more as you see the Day approaching."

During the on-line and conference call, Communion will be addressed and blessed. You are asked to make preparations to have juice/water and cracker/bread available to represent communion.

CHANGE

You can't change people. God does not force anybody to change. If someone desires to change, they have access to the heart softener. You can pray for their eyes to be opened, for them to see the error of their ways but what they do when they see it is up to them.

They have to catch it, see it and then through faith, humility and desire, confess it and turn from their wicked ways. God didn't force David to change, God provided David with the truth about his evil ways and David owned it, repented for it and God restored his heart: It works the same for everybody, including an abuser. We can pray for the truth to be shown but they have to have a desire to turn. The bible tells us, "You can plant, you can water but God causes the increase," by accepting their repentance and giving them access by faith to the heart softener — Jesus.

The Bible declares: "For with the heart one believes and is justified, and with the mouth one confesses and is saved" (Romans 10:10). To confess, you have to own it, believe it's wrong, desire to turn and through faith, access the mercy of Jesus.

Don't get caught up, don't subject yourself to needless abuse, "Waiting on God to force somebody to change."

It won't happen, it's not going to happen and it's not biblical. An abuser who refuses to acknowledge their evil ways will never humble themselves and turn. An abuser, and anybody else, can choose sin over God and anybody can refuse to accept God's mercy.

It's called free will of choice.

What will you choose today?

Lord,

You are the wind in my sails.
