Hebrews 10:23-25

Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; for he is faithful that promised; And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching.

During the on-line and conference call, Communion will be addressed and blessed. You are asked to make preparations to have juice/water and cracker/bread available to represent communion.

LETTING GO AND MOVING ON

Our lives have been given to us as a wonderful gift to enjoy while building positive relationships with others. Our friends and family benefit when we can present our best selves to them. However, sometimes we're dragging along emotional baggage from our past that interferes with our future. When we discover we have issues, it's time to jettison them so we can continue our forward progress.

Life was never meant to be unchanging and one-dimensional; just like everything else God created, it has definite seasons to it. (Read Ecclesiastes 3:1-8).

This applies not just to the environment around us, but also to our relationships. What is appropriate in one season of our lives doesn't necessarily work in another season. Our problem comes when we get stuck in one season and can't move on.

Sometimes newlyweds who have had different backgrounds and experiences bring those memories with them into the marriage. Past relationships may create issues with their present relationship; when this happens, it's time to deal with the problem. Letting the past stay in the past allows God to work in our "now," to prepare a beautiful future.

When our past issues surface, God is able to completely remove them. Living in the past keeps us from clearly seeing the present blessings we have. The phrase "The life which I now live" is significant; it indicates that we're not focusing on the things we used to do.

Jesus died so that our past mistakes would no longer have power over us. We can now shift our focus from our past to our future. This future is bright, and beckons for us to reach out for it without looking back.

Labor Day Prayer

Almighty God, Creator of the world, we give you thanks for the gift of stewardship and work. Deliver us, in our various occupations, from the service of self alone, that we may do our work in truth and beauty and for the common. God of justice, we pray for all workers, that they would receive fair compensation and treatment in their labor. For those who seek work, provide jobs — both citizen and immigrant alike. For those who cannot work, provide sustenance. Make those who lead the industries and commerce of this country responsive to your perfect will. Build up in the leaders of our country a respect for all labors. Deliver us, Lord Jesus, from the maligning evils of greed, sloth, and gluttony that we may lead lives of holiness in service to you and our neighbor. We ask all these things for our good and your glory. Amen.

Prayer for the Month

O Lord, I thank you for all that you are doing behind the scenes within the nations. I ask for Heaven's news report because the news report of men can be wicked. I thank you because you know the injustices that every country has faced and you bring justice despite the lies of man. I pray against financial problems, homelessness, poverty, hunger, diseases, and oppressive leaders. I ask that you would rebuke, redirect, and restore anything that is broken within the government of my country and the governments globally. O' Lord, I thank you that you are the God that can bring anyone into your loving arms and set them upon a path of righteousness.
